Sa Kaeo

Located in the eastern border of Thailand, facing Cambodia at Aranyaprathet, Sa Kaeo is a popular province known as a trading center.

In the past, Sa Kaeo was a major civilized community. Its long history had dated back since the Suwannaphum and Dawarati Periods. The archeological sites of Khmer arts and stone inscriptions are the outstanding examples of this civilization.

Administratively, Sa Kaeo has been a district of Prachin Buri Province for a long period, and has officially been upgraded as a province since December 1, 1993.

Sa Kaeo is 245 Kilometers, east of Bangkok, with the area about 7, 195 square kilometers, Sa Kaeo is divided into 7 Amphoe (districts) and 2 King Amphoe (sub-districts): Amphoe Muang, Amphoe Watthana Nakhon, Amphoe Aranyaprathet, Amphoe Ta Phraya, Amphoe Khao Chakan, Amphoe Wang Nam Yen, Amphoe Khlong Hat, King Amphoe Khok Sung, and King Amphoe Wang Somboo.

Geographical Location

Sa Kaeo has its border facing Cambodia of approximately 165 Kilometers. Generally, the area varies from plains to highlands. Highlands and mountains are in the north where Pang Sida National Park is located, while the south is covered with wavy plains and hills. Also there are evergreen forests along the Chanthaburi mountain range. In the central, there are plains and hills, with Amphoe Watthana Nakhon as the highest area when compared to the other Amphoe Muang in the west, and Amphoe Aranyaprathet in the east.

Boundary

- North : Amphoe Khon Buri of Nakhon Ratchasima, and Amphoe Lahan Sai of Buri Ram;
- South : Amphoe Soi Dao of Chanthaburi;
- East : Cambodia; and
- West : Amphoe Kabin Buri, Nadi of Prachin Buri, and Amphoe Sanam Chai Khet of Chachoengsao.

Attractions

Amphoe Muang

Sa Kaeo - Sa khwan

These two ponds are located in Tambon Sa Kaeo on the western side of town. Before approaching the city, turn right at 246th kilometer. It is believed that these two ponds contain sacred water once used for the coronation ceremony. The name of the province (Sa Kaeo) had been derived from this venue, Whereby Somdej Chaophraya Maha Kasatsuk (King Rama I Later) went to fight with the Cambodians, and stopped at this site to use sacred water to swear for the fighting courage.

Pang Sida National Park

Covering the area in Amphoe Muang, Amphoe Watthana Nakhon, Amphoe Ta Phraya of Sa kaeo and Amphoe Na di of Prachin Buri, the Park occupies an area of 844 square kilometers or 527,500 Rai. It has been declared a national park on February 24, 1982. The photography area consists of complex highlands with various and diversified forests, and an abundant of wild and rare animals. The area is the origin of many creeks which form the Bang Pakong River. The major attractions in the park are:

Namtok Pang Sida (Pang Sida Waterfall)

The waterfall is approximately 800 meters from the park office. With a large pond below the 10 meter waterfall, the surroundings are very shady, with much water during the rainy season.

Namtok Pha Takhian

About 3 kilometers from the park office and about 2.5 kilometers from Namtok Pang Sida, the 10 meter waterfall can be reached by 2 trekking trails which are suitable for nature study.

Tha Krabak Reservoir

Built under H.M.the King's Project to improve the irrigation, the reservoir is located in Moo 7 Tambon Tha Yaek, about 32 kilometers from town. It is a dam that is 17.50 meters high, and 720 meters long, surrounded by various kinds of forests. Its spectacular views are most suitable for relaxation.

Tha Krabak Waterfall

This waterfall is near the reservoir, with 3 levels which are 400-500 meters apart.

Group of Kvae Maka Waterfall

Kvae Maka Waterfall is about 6 kilometers from the 40th kilometer. It is approximately 70 meters high. The trail is suitable for trekking. Nearby, there are various waterfalls located at different distances from Kvae Maka Waterfall. These waterfalls are Rak Sai Yoi Waterfall (500 meters), Lan Hin Yai Waterfall (1.5 kilometers), Suan Man and Suan Thong Waterfalls (3 kilometers), Man Thara Waterfall (4 kilometers). To discover these waterfalls, you might need to spend 2-3 days because they are located deep into the forest.

Tham Kang Kao Waterfall

The waterfall can be reached by a walking distance of about 10 kilometers from the 22th kilometer. There are many bats living in this area.

View point

Situated in the huge valley at the 25th and 35th kilometer, sunrise and sunset can be watched here at this view point.

Fresh Water Crocodile Source

From the park office about 5 kilometers, to Moo Ban Khlong Phak Khom- Though Pho for about 50 kilometers, this source in Huay Nam Yen Forest, has been surveyed since 1991.

Accommodation

The National Park has house renting service at 500-600 Baht per night. Tent area also available at the rate of 5 Baht/person/night . For more details, contact Pang Sida National Park P.o. Travelling By Car:

From town, heading north by using Highway No.3462 about 27 kilometers, the National Park is on the right. If tourists need to travel by public transportation, they can use mini-cab route Sa Kaeo - Ban Khlong Nam Kheo for about 27 kilometers to the park office. Another route is by train (Bangkok - Aranyaprathet), getting off at Sa kaeo Station, then use mini-cab as mentioned above.

Amphoe Watthana Nakhon

Chong Klam Bon Wildlife Sanctuary

Located at Tambon Nong Mak Fai, this site has the area of approximately 430 Rai. The accessibility to this area is by using the same route to Pang Sida National Park, pass Tha Krabak Reservoir for about 500 meters, turn left about 3 kilometers. Under wildlife Sanctuary Bureau of Forestry Department, this sanctuary has been established in 1983, initiated by H.M.the Queen Sirikit to conserve rare and wild animals, such as wild birds and mammals. This sanctuary also conducts studies and researches on wild animals, and disseminates information, and knowledge in wildlife.

Prasat Ban Noi

Situated at Moo 4 Tambon Phakkha, this archeological site of the khmer period has 2 walls. The exterior wall is made of clay, while the interior is made of laterite. The site faces to the east with only one entrance. At the northern corner, there is a pond. Also, there are ruins of the ancient buildings in the central part of the site on the west side.

Amphoe Aranyaprathet

Phra Siam Dewathiraj

Located in front of Aranyaprathet Police Station, with the height of 1.29 meters, this is the imitation of the real Phra Siam Dewathiraj, built by Phra Uthai Thammathari in 1975. The people of Aranyaprathet constructed a throne with four posts to house the image on December 20, 1985. This sacred image has been worshipped by the people of Aranyaprathet and nearby provinces.

Aranyaprathet Victory Gate

Situated on the Thailand-Cambodia border at Ban Khlong Luek, Tambon Tha Kham, the gate was constructed in 1939. The shape of the gate consists of two octagonal 15 meter towers, with the base used as the guarding area. These towers were destroyed by war. In 1959, the left tower was reconstructed in the same shape to commemorate the dead and injured soldiers. The right tower was altered to a huge marble heart-shaped boundary stone facing Cambodia, with the Garuda (mythical bird-man) image on top, and the name "Thailand" below.

Ban khlong Luek Border Market

It is also known as Talad (Market) Rong Kluea, which is Ban khlong Luek, Tambon Tha Kham on Thailand-Cambodia border, east to Aranyaprathet town about 6 kilometers, on Highway No. 33 (Sa Kaeo-Aranyaprathet). This market is a major business center in trading goods from Cambodia such as brassware, ceramics, Clothers Russian electrical appliances, dried fish,etc

The Aranyaprathet international immigration control is 500 meters from Talad Rong Kluea. Passport bearers can pass and travel to third country with approved visa from the Cambodian Embassy or Consulate. This is the shortest way to travel in Cambodia. There are vans, pick-up trucks for rental service to Poipet, Siam Riap

Wat Anu Banphot or Khao Noi

This temple is located in Moo 2, Tambon Ban Mai Nong Sai. It is on Thana Withi Road (to Amphoe Ta Phraya) about 1 kilometer detour from Suwannasorn Road. It was built in 1925 during the reign of King Rama VI. The highlight of this temple is the beautiful chapel (ubosoth) which houses the imitation of Lord Buddha's footprint made from brass.

Prasat Khao Noi

This is situated in Wat Khao Noi Si Chomphu, Tambon Khlong Nam Sai, which is 12 kilometers to the South of the city. This ancient venue is on the 80 meter hill. With the Stairs of 254 steps, this site is composed of three towers (prang). However, only the central one has been remained. It has been registered in year 1935 by the Department of Fine Arts as the national ancient site. Some sandstone lintels and statues were found, and they are now displayed at the Prachin Buri National Museum.

Amphoe Khao Chakan

Khao Chakan

This mountain is about 17 kilometers from the city, on Highway No. 317 (Sa Kaeo-Chantaburi) 131st -132nd kilometer. The highest point is about 240 meters. There are 72 interesting caves. On the foot of the mount, is the location of Wat Khao Chakan and a botanical garden. There are stairs to the top which is a good viewpoint.

Amphoe Ta Phraya

Prasat Sadokkokthom

This ancient archeological venue, with three temples, is located at Ban Nong Samet. Facing to the east, with 4-side moat, a group of sandstone towers (prang) stand inside the laterite walls. Two Khmer stone inscriptions were found and are now kept in the National Library. Tourists can use the road Aranyaprathet-Ta Phraya, turn right at Ban Nong Mek. It is about 36 kilometers from Aranyaprathet.

Prasat Khao Lone

This Temple is on Khao lone in Ban Charoen Suk, Tambon Thap Raj. The architectural style of this site is similar to that of Prasat Khao Noi. There were four towers (prang). However, only the central one is still existed. To the northeastern part of the temple are two large ponds which are connected to the temple by an ancient roadway. Travelling to this temple is by using highway No. 3068 (Ta Phraya-Buriram), and then turning left to Ban charoen Suk. It is about 28 kilometers from Ta Phraya.

Phae Mueang Phee 2

Located at Ban Khlong Yang, Tambon Thap Raj, this venue is a large area fo about 800 acres with many earth pillars in various shapes like the ones in Phrae Province. They are indeed an amazingly beautiful site of nature wonder. At Ban Khlong Yang, home- stay trip is available.

Ta Phraya National Park

Ta Phraya National Park was declared a National Park in 1996. The park covers an area of 371,250 rai (equivalent to 594 sq. km.). The area surrounding the park and the boundary of the park form a straight line connecting Pangsida National Park from the west to Cambodia in the east. In the north, the park is connected to Tab Lan National Park and Buriram province, whereas in the south, the park boundary touches Ta Phraya district of Sakaeo Province. This is also where the administrative offices of the park are located.

The general landscape of the park is a plain area surrounded by hilly tracks. The major hill track of the park is the Bantad hill track, which stretches eastward as a natural boundary line separating Thailand and Cambodia. Hillside areas a botanical plain, with a tropical forest in pristine condition made up of many tree varieties.

The park is a major water source, and numerous streams and rivers have their origins here, including the Satone River, Huay Sabkradon and Nangrong rivers. It is also home to various kinds of animals such as Gaur, deer, wild pig, Antelope, and more than 300 different species of birds.

Ta Phraya National Park can be reached by driving along National Highway No. 33, passing through Sakaeo province and Wattana Nakhon district. After reaching Aranyaprathet district, turn left onto National Highway No. 27.

The road to the park is a 13-km-long non-surfaced road. 4WD vehicles are recommended.

Those interested in studying nature, please contact the office of Ta Phraya National Park directly at P.O. Box 20, Tambol Tapraj, Amphoe Ta Phraya, Sakaeo Province, 27180. Tel: (01) 470 5210 (please contact the office 15 days in advance.)

King Amphoe Kok Soong

Lalu

Lalu is a new natural attraction of Sakaeo. It is located in Ban Noenkham and Ban Klong Yang of Tambon Tapraj. It is approximately 36 km. Away from the town hall. "Lalu" is a Khmer word meaning "pierced", due to the natural phenomenon of spectacular rock formations caused by a shallow depression in the ground where soil erosion has produced strange shapes like city wall, cliff, rocket and others also found in "Phae Muang Phi" of Phrae Province. For this reason, Lалу is also known as "New Phae Muang Phi".

The area covered by Lалу is approximately 2,000 rai, and offers beautiful scenery and attractions. It is an ideal place for visiting. To reach Lалу, take National Highway No. 348 Aranyaprathet ñ Ta Phaya from Aranyaprathet district. Turn left at Ban Gudteoy (km marker 35 ñ 36) along highway No. 3486, and continue along until you reach Ban Koklan (km. Marker 8 ñ 9). Here turn left onto Ban Koklan ñ Nong Pak Wan road, and follow this road for 18 kilometers. From Nong Pak Wan, take the non-surfaced road for another 1 kilometer to the village and Lалу.
